Memories of the Algerian Freedom Fighter

Zohra Drif is a legendary freedom fighter. She was 19 when the Algerian Revolution broke out. She was studying law at Algiers University when she joined the FLN and placed a bomb in a French Café. A year after, she was arrested and condemned to 20 years of hard labor. She spent five years in prison before she was finally released upon independence.

for nearly five years, I was the only Arab girl at the French primary school. With my big braid among the Europeans girls. I completed those years as an excellent student with my classmate Roselyne Garcia. She was a dear friend until we reached the sixth grade exam. I was the first student whereas my best friend had failed. When we were heading home, Roselyne was crying so I told her not to give up. She was not upset because of her failure but on how to explain to her parents that an Arab girl passed unlike her.

Suddenly, I realized that all my excellent marks, all my efforts to learn the French language and culture and all my sincere feelings of friendship for Roselyne would never make me equal to the Europeans because she will always see me as an "inferior Arab".
